Goodwill names Miriam Henry GEI Regional Director

Long time math teacher and school director grows leadership portfolio

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. – Goodwill of Central & Southern Indiana is pleased to announce the promotion of Miriam Henry to regional director of Goodwill Education Initiatives, Inc. (GEI).

“Goodwill is fortunate once again to be able to grow its leadership from within. Miriam has been vital to the mission of the organization for a decade, and we couldn’t be more excited about how she will elevate our success in this new role,” said Betsy K. Delgado, senior vice president and chief mission & education officer of Goodwill of Central & Southern Indiana.

Henry began her teaching career as a math teacher at Rushville High School in 2009. She joined Goodwill three years later, assisting in the opening of The Excel Center®, Goodwill’s high school for adults, in Anderson. She became the lead teacher in 2013 and has served as the school’s director since 2017.

“Miriam knows the organization’s challenges and opportunities as well as anyone. She has helped build it and grow it, and we couldn’t be more confident that Goodwill and The Excel Center will continue to advance through her leadership,” Delgado added.

Henry received her bachelor’s degree in mathematics from Milligan College, and her master’s degree in math education from Western Governors University. In addition to her high school teaching career, she has also taught as an adjunct instructor at Ivy Tech.

She and her husband enjoy the outdoors and going on adventures with their four-year-old daughter.
