Dan Rice Promoted to Controller of Goodwill of Central & Southern Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. – Goodwill of Central & Southern Indiana is pleased to announce that Dan Rice has been promoted to the role of controller. Rice was previously the assistant controller of the organization.

“Dan’s promotion to controller was an easy decision as he is already a vital member of our organization,” said Josh Cooper, vice president of finance at Goodwill of Central & Southern Indiana.

Rice first joined Goodwill Industries of Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties in 2019 after several years of service at the Rescue Mission Alliance. Since relocating to Indiana in 2020, he served as a senior accountant at both Toyota Material Handling and YMCA of Greater Indianapolis.

“Dan has been an active member of Goodwill’s extended leadership team from the beginning. We are confident he will excel in this expanded role as he has already illustrated his expertise and excellence,” Cooper added.

As an avid sports fan, Indiana has helped rejuvenate Rice’s love of basketball. Along with his golf game, he is thrilled to be able to share his passion for Indiana sports with his children.

Rice earned his bachelor’s degree from California State University – Northridge, with additional education from the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) while obtaining his license as a certified public accountant.
