L'Tanya White Named Director of The Excel Center Clarksville

CLARKSVILLE, Ind. – Goodwill of Central & Southern Indiana is pleased to announce that L'Tanya White, a passionate leader with a wealth of leadership achievements has been promoted to Director of The Excel Center® in Clarksville.

Prior to The Excel Center, White served 20 years in the Louisville Public School system, working as a special education teacher for 13 years before transitioning to an elementary school counselor administrator for the remaining seven years.

Most recently, she embraced a new role as the Special Education Coordinator at The Excel Center in Kentucky, where she lent her expertise to establish best practices and streamline systems for the special education department. But her ultimate career goal was to become a building-level principal.

“L'Tanya brings decades of education experience to this director role,” said Betsy K. Delgado, senior vice president and chief mission & education officer. “Her background working with a diverse population of students makes her a perfect fit to lead The Excel Center and serve the needs of our students, who often come to The Excel Center needing extra support to knock down barriers to earning their high school diploma.”

White's qualifications include a Master of Arts in teaching, a Master of Arts in school counseling for grades K-12, an Educational Specialist (ED.S.) in educational leadership with principal certification, and a Bachelor of Science in business management.

Known for her approachable and innovative leadership, White's can-do attitude has consistently yielded positive results among colleagues, former students, and peers, Delta Sigma Theta and the broader community. She is eager to lead, learn and contribute to the mission and vision of Goodwill of Central & Southern Indiana.
